PROGRAM OBJECTIVES & PURPOSE

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Our Curriculum prepares and provides the attendees with a working knowledge of the 5 addictions and the 7 Compulsive Disorders, the Brain Reward Cascade System, Co-Occurring Disorders, Co-Morbidities, Pathophysiology of Addiction, Counseling and Treatment Options, Treatment Models, Interviewing and Intervention Strategies, Reward Deficiency Syndrome, and the Toxicology of Addictioin. All classes are taught by practicing professionals, all distinguished leaders in their field.

PROGRAM PURPOSE

Addiction is a multi-factorial disease having psychosocial, genetic, spiritual and metabolic components. The most significant mechanism of this disease process is manifest through neurophysiological insult within the Brain Reward Cascade Model known as REWARD DEFICIENCY SYNDROME (RDS).<sup>1</sup>

By error of omission, the leading cause of death and crime is addiction. It is estimated that up to 20% of our nation's population suffers from the disease of addiction. Since "treatment works but comprehensive treatment and intervention works better"<sup>2</sup>, our training prepares graduates to become this nation's greatest primary intervention resource for America's leading health care concern.

The medical model or disease concept of addiction establishes the Brain Reward Cascade as a hallmark of the 7 compulsive disorders: (ADHD, Tourette's, Asperger's, Autism, learning disabilities, Affective Disorders, and Anti-social Personality Disorders) as well as the 5 addictions: (Chemical, Food, Work, Sex, and Gambling).

UPON SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION OF THE 150 HOUR, 10 MODULE PROGRAM AND EXAMINATION, THE "C.Ad." CERTIFIED ADDICTIONOLOGIST CREDENTIAL IS GRANTED AND IN THE 300 HOUR, 20 MODULE PROGRAM, THE "DACACD" DIPLOMATE (BOARD CERTIFICATION) IS GRANTED. These two programs prepare you with the skills required to become this nation's primary intervention resource in addiction and compulsive disorders intervention, treatment and recovery management. By developing important new skills and learning the most effective up-to-date techniques, this program will allow the participant to gain the most significant experience available. Therefore, we are committed to supporting a diversified comprehensive broad-based program utilizing both the didactic method and the applied clinical approach in teaching. This will allow both the "C.Ad." and "DACACD" designates a more enjoyable classroom experience leading to successful opportunities to function in hospitals, residential treatment centers, outpatient programs, federal, state and county criminal justice programs, as well as in their private practice setting. Federal, state and county funding in research grants are knocking at the door.
